Attachment to SOS APA Form 001:

Compilation filing to comply with the Administrative Procedures Act. R. 1.1(f) amendment changes period of time all electronic dauber records must be retained from five years to three years. R. 1.1(i) amendment defines how hard wired systems versus wireless systems must operate for clarification purposes. R. 1.3(f) amendment removes language making remote access through manufacturer software programs a possibility. R. 1.4(d) amendment adds restrictions on what the system verifier can show as part of the supplement to prize reports. Currently there are no wireless communications in the electronic bingo dauber systems and the current regulations require the Commission to access the card sets through on-site inspections and by remote access through software programs provided by the manufacturer. These changes take out the remote access to the card sets as no internet access will be allowed to the electronic dauber systems. These changes would allow for a restricted wireless communication between the electronic bingo dauber system and the handheld dauber unit. The changes would restrict the verifier to only show electronic cards that were purchased for the individual game and put restrictions on voided transactions.
